

For the website

(I am missing the postings for May 29 and June 10 Please add them because they maintain an historical reference to resources, people, places and events)

New This Week June 28

- According to Pope Frances, Care of Creation extends to the Final Frontier!

See this link to the National Catholic Reporter

<https://www.ncronline.org/news/environment/out-world-vaticans-care-creation-includes-final-frontier>

If our God is the Creator of all things, the Creator of the universe, then is it not so that our care for creation extends to the stars?

This gives one pause when there is talk of exploring other planets for sources of minerals and fresh water.

Or what about establishing a “star force” military presence in orbit around our earth, God’s earth?

Will we be better stewards of the final frontier than we have been here? As we seek to make peace with one another and all creatures, what does peace look like in space and from space? Considering how treaties have been kept with indigenous people, considering commitments and promises for mutual respect, interdependence, and cooperation, will we be better promise keepers today and tomorrow?