

New This Week

1. A new book for the resource list

Stephanie Kaza writes Mindfully Green: A Personal and Spiritual Guide to Whole Earth Thinking. Bringing the analysis of a Buddhist perspective, Kaza develops a “Green Practice Path” that incorporates Buddhist principles, values and actions.

2. And adding to the resources of short films, check out this link to BBC.

https://www.bbc.com/ideas/?ns_mchannel=email&ns_source=pan_solus&ns_campaign=PANINT_SOT_26_IDA_USA_BBCIdeas&ns_linkname=bbcideas_bbcideashomepage_curiosity&ns_fee=0

Create an account , browse the topics, save those that interest you to the MY Ideas button and watch later at your leisure.

Here are some suggestions:

History of the Universe in Four Minutes

How Will We Source Clean Energy for All?

The App Fighting Food Waste

Could Plastic Roads Save the Planet?

The Woman Who Planted 50m Trees (With a Little Help)

Imagining a World Without Fossil Fuels

Opinion: The Superrich Are Damaging the Environment

These films last 3-4 minutes and could be excellent discussion starters. Imagine how you might use these to introduce Sunday worship!